Conditions for course completion: Active participation on whole social psychological training 100% semester Active participation on whole social psychological training
Learning outcomes: A major goal of social psychological training is teaching students who may or may not have emotional problems about the verbal as well as nonverbal behaviors involved in social interactions. There are many people who have never been taught such interpersonal skills as making "small talk" in social settings, or the importance of good eye contact during a conversation. Social psychological training helps students to learn to interpret these and other social signals, so that they can determine how to act appropriately in the company of other people in a variety of different situations.
Brief outline of the course: 1. History and present of social psychological training 2. Group processes 3. Roles and aim of social psychological training 4. Self and self-perception 5. Social perception. 6. Social interaction 7. Team work 8. Communication – verbal, nonverbal 9. Active listening
