Course level: II.
Prerequisites:
Conditions for course completion: During the semester, students will be evaluated based on their performance as follows: test for 10 points and two essays (for a total of 30 points). Students are expected to get minimally 5 points at test and at least 15 points for essays. A total of 20 points are required. The final grade will be awarded as follows: A 91 to 100, B 81 to 90, C 71 to 80, D 61 to 70, E 51 to 60 points.
Learning outcomes: Students are able to define basic concepts and describe selected theories in the field of intercultural communication with an emphasis on understanding their impact on interactions in everyday life in various communication contexts. Students are able to find, organize and interpret the latest information relevant to solving specific communication problems that arise in multicultural work teams. When communicating with a partner from a different cultural background (in terms of national culture), students are able to identify values that are important to their own culture and thus prevent conflicts. At the same time, they are able to find relevant information about cultural specifics of communication of members of the national culture of the communicating partner and in interaction with him / her identify basic cultural values and orientate in non-verbal communication of the partner. Students are able to propose ways to adequately address intercultural conflicts occurring in a multicultural workplace.
Brief outline of the course: The course gives a comprehensive view of intercultural communication. First, it defines intercultural communication in general, approaching the barrier of intercultural communication and relevant models of cultural values. In the next part, cultural differences in various countries of Europe are discussed, focusing on specificities in verbal and non-verbal communication. Attention is also paid to intercultural communication in the work context, expatriots selection process, acculturative stress and intercultural communication competence. The last block focuses on migration, the process of acculturation and the network of intercultural cities.

COURSE INFORMATION LETTER

University: P. J. Šafárik University in Košice
Faculty: Faculty of Public Administration
Course ID: KEaRVS/OSP-EVS- d/18	Course name: Municipal Social Entrepreneurship
Course type, scope and the method: Course type: Lecture / Practice Recommended course-load (hours): Per week: 2 / 1 Per study period: 28 / 14 Course method: present
Number of ECTS credits: 5
Recommended semester/trimester of the course: 1.
Course level: II.
Prerequisites:
Conditions for course completion: Conditions of credit: During the semester, students will write one written review, which will be valued with 20 points. The minimum number of points from the exam is 10 points. Students have to work out a semester work during the semester, which will be continuously presented. The thesis presents a selected social problem in a particular selected locality (town, municipality) and applies the potential of a social enterprise to it. They have a maximum of 20 points for their work. Minimum 11 points. The student can get a total of 40 points for the credit. To pass the exam, the student needs to achieve at least 21 points in the credit. If the student does not achieve the minimum number of credit points (21 points), it is possible to write corrective written examination in the 13th week of the semester. Exam: student can get max. 60 points, min. 31 points. The points from the credit are added to them. In total, the student can obtain 100 points from the course. Tolerated absence: 100% attendance at seminars is required.
Learning outcomes: The aim of the course is to understand the principles of social economy and social entrepreneurship, to understand the importance of social entrepreneurship with respect to the social needs of society at home and abroad. It is a new modern and highly up-to-date subject that can create space for finding solutions to problems of unemployment or disadvantaged citizens in society and at the same time to prepare students for the establishment of new social enterprises in regions that need this kind of business. By excursion in social enterprises / external lectures, the student gets a real idea of what a social enterprise looks like, how it is managed and what role it performs in local communities.
