COURSE INFORMATION LETTER

University: P. J. Šafárik University in Košice
Faculty: Faculty of Arts
Course ID: KSP/ EvSP/08	Course name: Ethics in Social Work
Course type, scope and the method: Course type: Lecture / Practice Recommended course-load (hours): Per week: 1 / 1 Per study period: 14 / 14 Course method: present
Number of ECTS credits: 4
Recommended semester/trimester of the course: 1., 3.
Course level: II.
Prerequisites:
Conditions for course completion: Teaching as well as passing individual parts of the assessment will take place according to the current situation, namely face-to-face or remotely (LMS, MS Teams). Completion of the course is conditioned by the ongoing evaluation and final evaluation. The point gain is a maximum of 100 points, divided into 50 points for the ongoing evaluation and 50 points for the final evaluation. Ongoing evaluation (max. 50 points): 1. presence at teaching activities (according to the method of teaching - full-time / distance via teleconference) - for admission to the exam, the participation of min. 80% of all teaching; while part of the teaching can take place in the form of discussions, excursions, etc., which are conditional on the student's participation; 2. continuous test – max. 15 points, with which the student is verified as interpreting, applying and being able to explain the theoretical starting points in the field of ethics; 3. preparation, submission and presentation of the seminar work - max. 20 points, according to a predetermined schedule. Part of the seminar work is also the preparation of an activity and the stimulation of a discussion for other students regarding the processed and presented topic. The written form of the seminar work must meet the formal requirements; 4. elaboration, submission and presentation of an assignment aimed at solving an ethical dilemma - max. 15 points. The assignment and seminar work must be submitted via the LMS e-learning portal by the deadline. If the assignment is not submitted or submitted late, the student loses the opportunity to earn points. Through seminar work and assignments, it will be verified how the student interprets, applies and can explain the theoretical principles of ethics in social work and on specific examples of work with a client. A total score of 26 points from the ongoing evaluation is required for admission to the exam. In case of failure to meet the conditions (failure to obtain the required 26 points in the ongoing evaluation, or failure to meet the participation condition), the student will not be classified in the subject (rating X). Final evaluation (max. 50 points): Written exam, where it is possible to get a maximum of 50 points, of which the minimum number of points for awarding the assessment is 27. To pass the exam in advance (the last week of the semester at the time of the lecture), a score of min. 40 points from the ongoing evaluation. The written exam is to check the student's ability to interpret, apply and explain the acquired theoretical knowledge knowledge in the field of ethics in social work.

The final grade is the sum of the points from the ongoing evaluation and the completed final exam.

A 100 - 91

B 90 - 81

Course ID: KSP/SDP/10	Course name: Master's Thesis Seminar
Course type, scope and the method: Course type: Practice Recommended course-load (hours): Per week: 2 Per study period: 28 Course method: present
Number of ECTS credits: 3
Recommended semester/trimester of the course: 4.
Course level: II.
Prerequisites:
Conditions for course completion: The evaluation of the subject is completed by the supervisor of the final thesis on the basis of the student's independent work on the creation of the diploma thesis, participation in consultations with the supervisor (according to the method of teaching - full-time / distance). The evaluation is given to a student who regularly participated in the agreed consultations during the creation of the final thesis. It also includes the fulfillment of the agreed time schedule for the creation of the final thesis, the student's independent creative work in the creation of the final thesis under professional guidance and with the supervisor's knowledge of the creative process. The evaluation is awarded after the finalization and diploma thesis and after meeting the other defined conditions. A student who did not meet the defined conditions (did not participate in the agreed consultations, did not follow the agreed schedule, did not prepare the final thesis independently or without the knowledge of the supervisor) is not awarded the evaluation.
Learning outcomes: The course is taught in consultation, through cooperation in the creation of a diploma thesis between the student and the supervisor expressed by joint consultations, fulfillment of the agreed time schedule of the final thesis, independent creative work of the student in creating the final thesis under professional guidance and with the supervisor's knowledge of the process. The result of completing the course is the student's ability to summarize important theoretical knowledge, interpret, classify and disseminate it in a scientific way inherent in communicating scientific knowledge in social work. The student is able to clearly formulate a research problem, create a methodologically correct research project, design a research tool and use it in accordance with applicable methodological standards and adequately interpret the results using appropriate, especially advanced statistical methods. The student masters the work with scientific literature and is able to think critically in the form of a comparison of various theoretical approaches to the chosen topic of the final thesis. The student is able to create an adequate formal side of the final work and determine the relationship of the identified results to the practice of social work according to requirements.
Brief outline of the course: Fulfillment of partial tasks and adherence to the time schedule for the creation of the final work in agreement with the trainer.

Number of ECTS credits: 4
Recommended semester/trimester of the course: 2.
Course level: II.
Prerequisites:
Conditions for course completion: Completion of the course is conditional upon meeting the conditions of the ongoing evaluation and final evaluation. The total score is a maximum of 100 points, divided into 50 points for the ongoing evaluation and 50 points for the final evaluation. Ongoing evaluation (max. 50 points) consists of: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. attendance at classes (teaching as well as passing the individual parts of the assessment will take place according to the current situation, namely face-to-face or remotely (LMS, MS Teams) - to be admitted to the exam, attendance at min. 80% of the entire teaching, while part of the teaching can take place in the form of discussions, excursions, etc., which are conditional on the student's participation. Part of the teaching replaces the performance of the student's voluntary activity (15 hours); 2. continuous test - at a pre-agreed date, max. 15 points, which will verify with the student how the student identifies and remembers the basic terms and theoretical principles related to the field of work, employment and unemployment, describes work and its meaning, identifies the labor market, describes the functions and subjects of employment policy; 3. "creative" processing of a curriculum vitae for a specific job offer in the field of social work, connected with its presentation at a pre-agreed date (10 points). The form of processing and presentation is chosen by the student and he submits the processed curriculum vitae via the LMS system by the deadline; 4. elaboration and presentation of the client's history (15 points). The student presents the processed case history of the client in PowerPoint form at a pre-agreed date and submits it in a word file via the LMS system no later than the day before the presentation; 5. processing of the active employment policy in a word file associated with the presentation of the processing at a pre-agreed date (10 points). The processed assignment must also be submitted through the LMS system by the deadline. All entries will be reviewed by APS Turnitin and points may be adjusted based on the result of the originality check. If the assignment is not submitted or the assignment is delayed, the student loses the opportunity to receive points for submitting the assignment (3 points).

A total score of 27 points from the ongoing evaluation is required for admission to the exam. In case of failure to meet the conditions (failure to obtain the required 27 points in the ongoing evaluation, or failure to meet the participation condition), the student will not be classified in the subject (rating X).

Final evaluation (max. 50 points):

During the written examination, a maximum of 50 points can be obtained, of which the minimum number of points for awarding the assessment is 26. If the student does not obtain this minimum set number of points, he/she will be awarded an FX assessment.

To pass the exam in advance (the last week of the semester at the time of the lecture), a score of min. 40 points from the ongoing evaluation.

The written exam is to check the student's ability to interpret, apply and explain the acquired knowledge in the field of social work with the unemployed.

The final evaluation (0-100 points) is the sum of the ongoing assessment and the completed written exam.

Course ID: KSP/VVN2/17	Course name: Principles of Creating and Using Research Tools II
Course type, scope and the method: Course type: Practice Recommended course-load (hours): Per week: 1 Per study period: 14 Course method: present
Number of ECTS credits: 2
Recommended semester/trimester of the course: 3.
Course level: II.
Prerequisites:
Conditions for course completion: Ongoing evaluation: 1. presence at teaching activities (according to the method of teaching - full-time / distance by teleconference) - for successful completion of the course, the participation of min. 80% of all teaching; 2. Demonstration of theoretical and practical mastery of conceptualization and operationalization through the elaboration, submission and presentation of a research concept according to methodological principles - max. 25 points; 3. the ability to identify key variables and the ability to understand their identification through the development of questionnaires and scales for their measurement. The student submits and presents a working research tool and presents it with emphasis on the wording of individual questionnaire formulations and research scales - max. 25 points; 4. independent active preparation for teaching - processing and handing over the processed research tool according to the valid methodological principles - max. 50 points. Final rating: according to the number of points obtained during the semester, for successful completion of the course it is necessary in addition to meeting the condition of participation to obtain min. 1 point from each of the other parts of the continuous assessment (in case of non-compliance, the student is graded X - unclassified). The final grade is the result of adding up the points (after meeting the condition of participation). 100 - 91 points: A 90 - 81 points: B 80 - 71 points: C 70 - 61 points: D 60 - 51 points: E 50 points or less: Fx.
Learning outcomes: The aim of the course is to acquaint students with the methodological principles of creating and using more advanced research tools with a focus on independent creation, especially diploma theses. To orient students in the creation, verification and use of research tools, especially in terms of their future statistical use. After completing the course, students are able to interpret more complex methodological concepts, create a comprehensive literary review, extract research variables from it and design a research tool identifying these variables with emphasis on their future statistical processing. Students understand and are able to explain the concepts of reliability and validity and can practically adapt the research tool with regard to the requirements for validity and reliability. Students are also able to interpret and apply the methodological principles of using the adopted research methods, they can process them and design a research tool with regard to these requirements.

Brief outline of the course:

Methodological principles of using own and taken over research tools in social research
Operationalization and conceptualization. Selection of appropriate research tools. Basics of hypothesis formulation for future statistical processing
Ethics in research
Use of assessment scales
Validity and reliability of used research tools
Specific ways of obtaining information
Preparation of research tools for statistical processing

Number of ECTS credits: 4
Recommended semester/trimester of the course: 3.
Course level: II.
Prerequisites:
Conditions for course completion: Teaching as well as passing individual parts of the assessment will take place according to the current situation, namely face-to-face or remotely (LMS, MS Teams). Completion of the course is conditioned by the ongoing evaluation and final evaluation. The point gain is a maximum of 100 points, divided into 50 points for the ongoing evaluation and 50 points for the final evaluation. Ongoing evaluation (max. 50 points): 1. presence at teaching activities (according to the method of teaching - full-time / distance via teleconference) - for admission to the exam, the participation of min. 80% of all teaching; while part of the teaching can take place in the form of discussions, excursions, etc., which are conditional on the student's participation; 2. continuous test – max. 25 points, with which the student is verified as interpreting, applying and being able to explain the theoretical starting points in social work with seniors; 3. elaboration, submission and presentation of the seminar work - according to the predetermined schedule - max. 25 points. In a seminar work, the student presents the results of processing a previously given topic. Part of the presentation of the seminar work is also the preparation of the activity and the stimulation of the discussion for other students regarding the processed and presented topic. The seminar paper must be submitted via the LMS e-learning portal by the deadline. If the assignment is not submitted or the assignment is delayed, the student loses the opportunity to receive points for the assignment. A total score of 26 points from the ongoing evaluation is required for admission to the exam. In case of failure to meet the conditions (failure to obtain the required 26 points in the ongoing evaluation, or failure to meet the participation condition), the student will not be classified in the subject (rating X). Final evaluation (max. 50 points): A written exam, where a maximum of 50 points can be obtained, of which the minimum number of points for awarding an assessment is 27. The written exam is intended to check the student's ability to interpret, provide and explain the social level of acquired knowledge in the field of working with seniors.

To pass the exam in advance (the last week of the semester at the time of the lecture), a score of min. 40 points from the ongoing evaluation.
The final grade is the sum of the points from the ongoing evaluation and from the completed final exam.
