| Learning outcomes:By attending a scientific conference, the doctoral student demonstrates a high degree of ability to identify, evaluate, and apply the correct scientific methods or research methodology in the historical sciences. The student demonstrates the ability to reflect on a scientific problem by using the latest approaches and applying them critically. He/she demonstrates the competence to use existing theories and concepts in an innovative way, as well as the ability to generate new original scientific knowledge and to communicate research results to a wider audience by adequate means and through more than one language. |                                                                                                             |

| Learning outcomes:By attending a scientific conference, the doctoral student demonstrates a high degree of ability to identify, evaluate, and apply the correct scientific methods or research methodology in the historical sciences. The student demonstrates the ability to reflect on a scientific problem by using the latest approaches and applying them critically. He/she demonstrates the competence to use existing theories and concepts in an innovative way, as well as the ability to generate new original scientific knowledge and to communicate research results to a wider audience by adequate means and through more than one language. |                                                                                                                                         |

| Learning outcomes:By attending a scientific conference, the doctoral student demonstrates a high degree of ability to identify, evaluate, and apply the correct scientific methods or research methodology in the historical sciences. The student demonstrates the ability to reflect on a scientific problem by using the latest approaches and applying them critically. He or she demonstrates the competence to use existing theories and concepts in an innovative way, as well as to generate new original scientific knowledge and to communicate research results to a wider audience by adequate means and through more than one language. |                                                                                                            |

| Learning outcomes:The doctoral student participating in the organization of a conference demonstrates the ability and competence to organize a scientific or professional event independently or in a team. He/she manages the implementation in terms of time and content, communicates effectively orally and in a written form by various technical means, also in a foreign language and at a professional level with different types of stakeholders. If necessary, he/she can correctly recommend solutions or make independent decisions. |                                                                          |

| Learning outcomes:The dissertation verifies the ability and readiness for an independent scientific and creative activity in research in the field of study of Slovak history in accordance with the expectations of the relevant qualification framework and the profile of the graduate. The student demonstrates the ability and readiness for an independent theoretical and creative artistic activity, for solving theoretical and practical problems with an interdisciplinary approach, and for drawing a conclusion. The scope of the dissertation is set at 80 - 150 standard pages. Details are determined by Directive no. 1/2011 On the basic requirements for final theses, rigorous theses and habilitation theses, their publication and their availability during their retention of originality control valid for Pavol Jozef Šafárik University in Košice and its affiliated bodies. The dissertation has the character of a scientific work. It is developed based on continuous research of the student and with the use of rich documentary material, as well as scientific methods. It must meet the criteria of a good research practice defined in the Rector's Decision no. 21/2021, which lays down the rules for assessing plagiarism at Pavol Jozef Šafárik University in Košice and its affiliated bodies. Fulfillment of the criteria is verified mainly in the training process and in the process of the thesis defense. Failure to do so represents grounds for disciplinary action. |                                             |

| Learning outcomes:Through pedagogical activities, the doctoral students demonstrate the ability to transfer and integrate knowledge from their own field of study into education. They are able to select and apply the correct techniques and strategies for study group management, higher education and evaluation of learning outcomes. They are able to design and implement a part of the educational process in accordance with current trends in higher education and the requirements placed on the level of communication and digital competencies. |                                                                                          |

| Learning outcomes:Through pedagogical activities, the doctoral students demonstrate the ability to transfer and integrate knowledge from their own field of study into education. They are able to select and apply the correct techniques and strategies for study group management, higher education and evaluation of learning outcomes. They are able to design and implement a part of the educational process in accordance with current trends in higher education and the requirements placed on the level of communication and digital competencies. |                                                                                          |

| Learning outcomes:By supervising the final (bachelor's) thesis, the doctoral student demonstrates a broad and scientifically based knowledge in a particular field of study, as well as knowledge of a wide range of methods and approaches. He/she demonstrates the ability to critically assess a professional problem and its proposed solution, as well as to evaluate it and possibly to propose another solution. He/she applies knowledge and skills from the field of pedagogical sciences to his/her own field. |                                             |

| Conditions for course completion:The evaluation is based on the combination of a continuous assessment in practicals and a final examination test. The continuous assessment is performed during the study part of the semester using work on assignments (30%-share in total result). The credits will be awarded to a student who is successful in each evaluation segment at 50% success level (E grade).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                                                                        |
| Learning outcomes:This course introduces students to the principles and applications of geospatial technologies in collection of data and production of thematic maps for historical research. They will gain practical skills in using the equipment and softwares in digitalisation of documents including paper maps. They will become familiar with data collection methods using GPS/GNSS, UAV and laser scanning as well as production of digital thematic maps using ArcGIS software.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                                                                        |
| Brief outline of the course:Lectures: Introduction to geographic information systems – basic definitions and terms. Historical maps in the territory of Slovakia, their use in historical research. Principles of digital representation of territory in GIS (raster, vector format), coordinate systems. Large format scanners, scanning paper documents and georeferencing. Collection of data using GPS, UAV, LiDAR. Creation of geo-tagged photographs and images. Basic principles of cartographic outputs - creation of thematic maps in GIS. Maps on the Internet, Google Maps, Google Earth, OpenStreetMaps, 3D city model. Practical: Introduction and operations in ArcGIS software, working with files, attribute tables, import/export of data, definition of coordinate system, principles of visualisation of point, line and areal phenomena, creation of maps. Working with GPS instruments, UAV and terrestrial laser scanning. Processing digitised historical maps, creation of 3D city models. |                                                                        |

| Learning outcomes:After completing the course, the doctoral student has the prerequisites to better manage research and write their own dissertation in terms of its structure, schedule and formal arrangements with the emphasis on the methodological and methodological aspects, and has a knowledge of directions and trends in the contemporary historiography. The student demonstrates deep knowledge of the theory and methodology of historical research, is able to comprehensively perceive socio-historical and interdisciplinary context, can read, analyze and interpret primary and secondary historical sources at the expert level, in several languages and using modern technologies, and formulate their own conclusions and bring original knowledge. Following this, the student is able to lead a cultural dialogue and an open discussion about historical research and its significance for today's society. He/she is able to understand resources and independently create and communicate a scientific text to the professional and general public. He/she knows and follows the principles of the scientific work ethics. |                                                                   |

| Learning outcomes:By completing a study stay, the doctoral student demonstrates the ability to reflect on research problems and critically work with resources at the expert level and in an interdisciplinary context, while being able to generate new knowledge. He/she is able to communicate actively at the expert level in more than one language. He/she acts as a responsible independent scientist, working both autonomously and in a group in order to expand the boundaries of knowledge and transfer them to other areas of research, to practice and to the public. The student can competently argue and explain his/her ideas. |                                                          |

| Learning outcomes:By completing a study stay, the doctoral student demonstrates the ability to reflect on research problems and critically work with resources at the expert level and in an interdisciplinary context, while being able to generate new knowledge. He/she is able to communicate actively at the expert level in more than one language. He/she acts as a responsible independent scientist, working both autonomously and in a group in order to expand the boundaries of knowledge and transfer them to other areas of research, to practice and to the public. The student can competently argue and explain his/her ideas. |                                                             |

| Learning outcomes:By publishing a monograph, a PhD student demonstrates a high level of competence to identify, evaluate, and apply the correct scientific methods or research methodology in historical sciences. He/she demonstrates the capability to reflect the scientific problem by using the latest approaches and their critical applications. He/she demonstrates the competence in an innovative way, using existing theories and concepts, as well as the ability to generate new original scientific knowledge, which can be published according to the specified qualitative and ethical standards, and as a rule in a foreign language. |                                                                          |

| Learning outcomes:By publishing a scientific study or a chapter in a collective monograph, a PhD student demonstrates a high level of competence to identify, evaluate, and apply the correct scientific methods or research methodology in historical sciences. He/she demonstrates the capability to reflect the scientific problem by using the latest approaches and their critical applications. He/she demonstrates the competence in an innovative way, using existing theories and concepts, as well as the ability to generate new original scientific knowledge, which can be published according to the specified qualitative and ethical standards. |                                                                               |

| Learning outcomes:By publishing a scientific study or a chapter in a peer-reviewed edited volume published abroad, a PhD student demonstrates a high level of competence to identify, evaluate, and apply the correct scientific methods or research methodology in historical sciences. He/she demonstrates the capability to reflect the scientific problem by using the latest approaches and their critical applications. He/she demonstrates the competence in an innovative way, using existing theories and concepts, as well as the ability to generate new original scientific knowledge, which can be published according to the specified qualitative and ethical standards, and usually in a foreign language. |                                                                                             |

| Learning outcomes:By publishing a scientific study or a chapter in an edited volume, a PhD student demonstrates a high level of competence to identify, evaluate, and apply the correct scientific methods or research methodology in historical sciences. He/she demonstrates the capability to reflect the scientific problem by using the latest approaches and their critical applications. He/she demonstrates the competence in an innovative way, using existing theories and concepts, as well as the ability to generate new original scientific knowledge, which can be published according to the specified qualitative and ethical standards. |                                                                                                        |

| Learning outcomes:By publishing a scientific study in a periodical which is registered in one of the thematic series of the Current Contents Connect database, a PhD student demonstrates a high level of competence to identify, evaluate, and apply the correct scientific methods or research methodology in historical sciences. He/she demonstrates the capability to reflect the scientific problem by using the latest approaches and their critical applications. He/she demonstrates the competence in an innovative way, using existing theories and concepts, as well as the ability to generate new original scientific knowledge, which can be published according to the specified qualitative and ethical standards. |                                                                                                                             |

| Learning outcomes:By publishing a scientific study in a peer-reviewed edited volume, a PhD student demonstrates a high level of competence to identify, evaluate, and apply the correct scientific methods or research methodology in historical sciences. He/she demonstrates the capability to reflect the scientific problem by using the latest approaches and their critical applications. He/she demonstrates the competence in an innovative way, using existing theories and concepts, as well as the ability to generate new original scientific knowledge, which can be published according to the specified qualitative and ethical standards. |                                                                                             |

| Learning outcomes:By participating in the scientific task, the doctoral student demonstrates a broad and well-founded scientific knowledge in his/her field of study, including knowledge of methodology and research approached. He/she is able to use the acquired knowledge for scientific research, which results in original ideas or procedures leading to new knowledge. He/she demonstrates a high degree of responsibility, critical thinking and autonomy in solving tasks, the ability to work in a team and to communicate with different groups of stakeholders. |                                                       |

| Learning outcomes:After completing the course, the doctoral student is able to formulate a new specific research problem based on knowledge of the state of arts, methodology and resources, including the design of its solution according to the standards of the department and the requirements of the basic or applied research. He/she has the competence to evaluate their own strengths and weaknesses, and to plan such work strategies for themselves and their team, which are appropriate for reaching the set goals.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                                      |

| Learning outcomes:Obtaining a citation demonstrates broad and very well founded scientific knowledge in the research area, based on the ability to formulate research questions, and to reflect on a scientific problem in a way that generates new knowledge. At the same time, the citation in the indexed source demonstrates the competence to communicate new knowledge, which is a significant contribution to the knowledge of human history, at the highest expert level. |                                                         |

| Learning outcomes:Obtaining a citation demonstrates broad and very well founded scientific knowledge in the research area, based on the ability to formulate research questions, and to reflect on a scientific problem in a way that generates new knowledge. At the same time, the citation in the indexed source demonstrates the competence to communicate new knowledge, which is a significant contribution to the knowledge of human history, at the highest expert level. |                                                   |

| Learning outcomes:Obtaining a citation demonstrates broad and very well founded scientific knowledge in the research area, based on the ability to formulate research questions, and to reflect on a scientific problem in a way that generates new knowledge. At the same time, the citation in the indexed source demonstrates the competence to communicate new knowledge, which is a significant contribution to the knowledge of human history, at the highest expert level. |                                                     |

| Learning outcomes:Obtaining a citation demonstrates broad and very well founded scientific knowledge in the research area, based on the ability to formulate research questions, and to reflect on a scientific problem in a way that generates new knowledge. At the same time, the citation in the indexed source demonstrates the competence to communicate new knowledge, which is a significant contribution to the knowledge of human history, at the highest expert level. |                                              |

| Learning outcomes:The doctoral student will gain and demonstrate deep and scientifically based knowledge of important events and processes in the history of Slovakia in the context of wider European or world developments in socio-political, economic and cultural history, as well as in the field of Slovak and world historiography. He/she demonstrates understanding and expertise in one or several periods of the history of Slovakia. He/she will be able to use scientific knowledge from the history of Slovakia in scientific research in the field of historical sciences at the interdisciplinary level, and thus interpret selected scientific problems. He/she will have the competence to formulate scientific problems from the history of Slovakia in a broader international context, to solve them, to communicate adequately and, ultimately, to bring new original ideas. |                                                                         |

| Learning outcomes:The doctoral student will gain and demonstrate deep and scientifically based knowledge of important events and processes in the history of Slovakia in the context of wider European or world developments in socio-political, economic and cultural history, as well as in the field of Slovak and world historiography. He/she demonstrates understanding and expertise in one or several periods of the history of Slovakia. He/she will be able to use scientific knowledge from the history of Slovakia in scientific research in the field of historical sciences at the interdisciplinary level, and thus interpret selected scientific problems. He/she will have the competence to formulate scientific problems from the history of Slovakia in a broader international context, to solve them, to communicate adequately and, ultimately, to bring new original ideas. |                                                                          |

| Learning outcomes:The doctoral student will gain and demonstrate deep and scientifically based knowledge of important events and processes in the history of Slovakia in the context of wider European or world developments in socio-political, economic and cultural history, as well as in the field of Slovak and world historiography. He/she demonstrates understanding and expertise in one or several periods of the history of Slovakia. He/she will be able to use scientific knowledge from the history of Slovakia in scientific research in the field of historical sciences at the interdisciplinary level, and thus interpret selected scientific problems. He/she will have the competence to formulate scientific problems from the history of Slovakia in a broader international context, to solve them, to communicate adequately and, ultimately, to bring new original ideas. |                                                                           |
