Prerequisites:
Conditions for course completion: Continuous assessment (test, independent work...): pwp presentation + paper Final assessment (exam, final thesis...): written exam The condition for granting credit /interim assessment/ is the processing of a presentation on a specific topic from a partial part of social policy (each student separately) + a report on the given topic. Topics are assigned in the 1st week of the semester in person (those who do not receive the topic in person for objective reasons) agree on the topic online with the teacher. In the 2nd week of the semester, it is necessary for each student to know what topic he has to work on. The date of the presentation is determined in the 1st week of the semester at the latest. The originality of the processing (both formal and content), clarity, brevity, accuracy, objectivity, (orientation in the issue) visibility-distinction, interest are evaluated. The selection of relevant processing sources is also important, of which there must be at least 10. At the beginning of the semester, students are familiar with what relevant sources are. Minimum duration of 15 minutes. The student will hand in one carrier with the presentation marked with the name of the student who is the author. Range of at least 15 slides. Sources are listed on each slide, as well as in the bibliography (according to the standard that is listed on the faculty's website in accordance with the dean's instructions for writing final theses). The dean's instructions for writing theses are also listed in the LS system of UPJŠ on the Social Policy course page. The paper on the topic is part of the fulfillment of the conditions. For the presentation in PWP, it is also necessary to add a verbal description, report, commenting on each part of the presentation, up to 10 standard pages. Students are informed about all the details of the presentation and the related report, formal, but above all content, in 1 meeting, they can write any questions to the appropriate email, always from the official student account at UPJŠ.

The student is obliged to come to seminar exercises prepared in terms of the syllabus. If he is not ready, he can be evaluated with a minus point, and if he is ready, he will be evaluated with plus points, which are added to the total sum for the semester. 100% participation in seminars is required from students. For each non-participation in the seminars, the teacher will determine a substitute written performance. A maximum of 3 absences can be replaced. Notes:

The midterm written examination and midterm test nor the presentation on the specified topic are not conditional on obtaining a minimum number of points. However, a minimum of 30 points must be achieved when the individual sub-conditions are added together. If the student does not obtain the minimum number of points (30) required to progress to the examination, he/she is entitled to 1 remedial written examination. In this remedial examination, the student must achieve a minimum of 30 points /out of 50/. If the student fails to meet these conditions, he/she cannot progress to the examination (he/she is graded X).

If the student fulfils the conditions for advancement to the examination (min. 30 and max. 50 points from the continuous performance during the semester), these are added to the number of points obtained in the written examination, which consists of a test of 50 questions, where each question is worth 1 point /total-50 points/. Here, a minimum of 21 points is required (21 + 30 - minimum points for both the exam and the semester = 51 points which is a grade of "E").

The pwp presentation is always on a specified topic assigned at the beginning of the semester with a schedule for presentation in the first or second seminar. Two students participate (depending on the number of students in the seminar group and the teacher's decision). It is evaluated for originality of processing (formal and content), clarity, conciseness, accuracy, visibility-resolution, interestingness. The selection of relevant sources of the treatment is also important, of which there must be at least 5. Duration of at least 10 and no more than 15 minutes. The student will hand in one presentation medium marked with the names of the students who are the authors of the treatment.

The student is required to attend the seminar exercises prepared in terms of the syllabus. If he/she is not prepared, he/she may be assessed a minus point; likewise, if he/she is prepared, he/she will be assessed plus points, which will be added to the semester total.

Students are required to have 100% - t attendance in seminars. The teacher will assign a remedial writing assignment for each absence. No more than 3 absences may be substituted by remedial writing assignment. Addendum: The teacher will judge, based on the severity of the reason for the absence, whether to assign a written assignment or excuse the student's absence without it.
