University: P. J. Šafárik University in Košice
Faculty: Faculty of Public Administration
Course ID: KVPaTVS/ DIPSEM1-e/22	Course name: Diploma Seminar I.
Course type, scope and the method: Course type: Practice Recommended course-load (hours): Per week: Per study period: 6s Course method: present
Number of ECTS credits: 2
Recommended semester/trimester of the course: 5.
Course level: II.
Prerequisites:
Conditions for course completion: The condition for completing the course is regular participation in consultations according to the instructor's instructions. The condition for completing the course can also be the continuous submission of tasks and assignments according to the requirements of the supervisor (eg bibliography, formulated the main goal of the work and sub-objectives of the work, the structure of the work and the expected benefits of the work). The student completes the course based on the assessment of the degree of fulfillment of the above conditions by the supervisor.
Learning outcomes: The course provides the student with important information about the prerequisites that the master's thesis should meet and the requirements that are placed on this type of final thesis, e.g. even compared to the bachelor thesis. After completing the seminar, the student should be able to compile the structure of his / her future diploma thesis and prepare a search for professional resources. The course focuses on mastering the methodology of writing a thesis, increasing the student's ability to search for foreign information sources and work with them, as well as to improve the ability to think critically and distinguish relevant sources from untrustworthy sources. The student will get acquainted with the latest information about electronic databases available within the UPJŠ University Library. Emphasis is also placed on gaining the ability to cite and paraphrase the sources used, both formally and ethically, and then the correct presentation of bibliographic references. The student is instructed in the correct processing of all formal requirements of the thesis, including the introduction and conclusion of the thesis. By completing the seminar, the student should gain the ability to independently develop the thesis as a whole. At the same time, it obtains information on the method of submitting the final thesis, the course of the final thesis defenses and also recommendations on how to properly prepare for the defenses.
Brief outline of the course: EN 3 consultations: 1. Basic instructions on the time schedule - work plan for the semester Basic instructions for final theses valid for UPJŠ and FVS

Searching for resources, the so-called search - libraries, electronic databases, free internet 2. Structure of work, determination of hypothesis, main goal and partial goals Work with sources - Citation, paraphrasing, listing of bibliographic references Formal arrangement of work, methodology and stylistics of writing Introduction and conclusion of work 3. Defense of the final thesis The content of consultations during the semester can supplement and deepen the information provided at the introductory seminar, and in addition is given by individual agreement between the student and the tutor depending on the tasks.

Number of ECTS credits: 2
Recommended semester/trimester of the course: 6.
Course level: II.
Prerequisites:
Conditions for course completion: The condition for completing the course is regular participation in consultations according to the instructor's instructions. The condition for completing the course can also be the continuous submission of tasks and assignments according to the requirements of the supervisor (eg bibliography, formulated the main goal of the work and sub-objectives of the work, the structure of the work and the expected benefits of the work). The student completes the course based on the assessment of the degree of fulfillment of the above conditions by the supervisor.
Learning outcomes: The course provides the student with important information about the prerequisites that the master's thesis should meet and the requirements that are placed on this type of final thesis, e.g. even compared to the bachelor thesis. After completing the seminar, the student should be able to compile the structure of his / her future diploma thesis and prepare a search for professional resources. The course focuses on mastering the methodology of writing a thesis, increasing the student's ability to search for foreign information sources and work with them, as well as to improve the ability to think critically and distinguish relevant sources from untrustworthy sources. The student will get acquainted with the latest information about electronic databases available within the UPJŠ University Library. Emphasis is also placed on gaining the ability to cite and paraphrase the sources used, both formally and ethically, and then the correct presentation of bibliographic references. The student is instructed in the correct processing of all formal requirements of the thesis, including the introduction and conclusion of the thesis. By completing the seminar, the student should gain the ability to independently develop the thesis as a whole. At the same time, it obtains information on the method of submitting the final thesis, the course of the final thesis defenses and also recommendations on how to properly prepare for the defenses.
Brief outline of the course: 3 consultations: 1. Basic instructions on the time schedule - work plan for the semester Basic instructions for final theses valid for UPJŠ and FVS Searching for resources, the so-called search - libraries, electronic databases, free internet

Course type, scope and the method: Course type: Practice Recommended course-load (hours): Per week: Per study period: 9s Course method: present
Number of ECTS credits: 5
Recommended semester/trimester of the course: 3.
Course level: II.
Prerequisites:
Conditions for course completion: During the semester, students will create a project on a given topic (max 30 points). A student will fail to qualify for the exam if he/she receives less than 16 points for the project. Detailed requirements are updated annually in the LMS UPJŠ e-learning portal. Final grade: A = 91-100 points, B = 81-90 points, C = 71-80 points, D = 61-70 points, E = 51-60 points, FX = 0-50 points.
Learning outcomes: Students will be able to define basic concepts and describe selected theories in the field of intercultural communication with an emphasis on understanding their impact on interactions in everyday life in a variety of communicative contexts. Students will be able to search and interpret the most recent information relevant to solving specific communication problems encountered in multicultural work teams. When communicating with a partner with a different cultural background (meaning national culture), students can identify values relevant to his/her own culture that could constitute a barrier to communication and thus prevent conflict. At the same time, they are able to look up relevant information about the cultural specifics of communication of members of the communicating partner's national culture and, when interacting with them, to identify basic cultural values and understand the partner's non-verbal communication. Students are able to manage intercultural conflicts occurring in a multicultural workplace.
Brief outline of the course: Consultation 1: Culture, communication and intercultural communication. Barriers to intercultural communication. Verbal communication and culture. Non-verbal communication and culture. Cultural values. Intercultural conflicts. Consultation 2: Intercultural business negotiation. Intercultural communication in the workplace. Intercultural relations. Migration and acculturation. Foreigners in Slovakia. Intercultural communicative competence.

University: P. J. Šafárik University in Košice
Faculty: Faculty of Public Administration
Course ID: KEaRVS/OBSP- e/22	Course name: Municipal Social Entrepreneurship
Course type, scope and the method: Course type: Practice Recommended course-load (hours): Per week: Per study period: 9s Course method: present
Number of ECTS credits: 5
Recommended semester/trimester of the course: 3.
Course level: II.
Prerequisites:
Conditions for course completion: Students are asked to complete a semester paper during the semester, which they submit in the LMS system. In the thesis, they present a selected social problem in a specific selected locality (city, village) and apply the potential possibilities of a social enterprise to it. They have the opportunity to get a maximum of 30 points for their work. A minimum of 15 points must be obtained. By the end of the teaching part of the semester, students write a written examination for 30 points, from which they need to obtain at least 16 points. In total, students receive a maximum of 60 points for the interim evaluation. If the student does not achieve the minimum points from the credit (31 points), it is possible to write a corrective written examination. Tolerated absence: 100% participation in consultations is required.
Learning outcomes: The aim of the course is to understand the principles of social economy and social entrepreneurship, to understand the importance of social entrepreneurship with regard to the social needs of society at home and abroad. It is a new modern and highly topical subject that can create space for finding solutions to the problems of disadvantaged citizens in society, allows you to learn about the importance and function of state administration and self-government bodies in this area, and at the same time it can be a preparation for students to establish new social enterprises in regions that need this type of business. Through the elaboration of the semester work, the student: independently solves problem tasks in predictable changing conditions, recognizes the emergence of a problem in a selected locality (village, city), monitors, analyzes and evaluates a specific procedure for establishing a social enterprise, proposes specific work procedures, which presupposes innovative and creative thinking. The student learns to think critically, independently, and analytically in unpredictably changing conditions. In doing so, it takes into account social, scientific and ethical aspects in the direction of the development of society, how a social enterprise will positively affect a given location. They will have the ability to present results and formulate recommendations for the development of the area.
