Learning outcomes:

The course combines information on history and institutions to provide a complex insight into what constitutes American nation. From the historical perspective the course considers the economic, social and political history of the USA from the earliest period. It provides an explanation of what happened and why. It captures the events, personalities that shaped the nation. It examines how historians have interpreted the past and provides a conceptual framework through which the past can be illuminated.

From the perspective of Institutions, the course introduces basic terminology and theory that helps to understand contemporary American society. The student will be able to analyse past events, and attempt to objectively determine the patterns of cause and effect. Moreover, the student will be able to implement basic concepts of history. The target theory is a theory of identity with reference to various aspects such as religion, family, race, and class. Via the interpretation of primary sources the main objective of this part is to develop and/or improve essential analytical skills in dealing with contemporary cultural problems with the focus on social institutions as the main agent of social changes.

Brief outline of the course:

The aim:

The aim of the course Final Thesis and its Defence is that the students demonstrate their interest in the selected topic, mastering of the topic from both theoretical and practical point of view, as well as the competence to apply the acquired knowledge by working independently.

Verification of student's acquired competences in compliance with the graduate profile. Syllabus:

During discussion, students are required to respond to comments contained in the supervisor's report, opponent's report and to answer the questions of the members of state examination board. The chairperson of state examination board, opponent and supervisor of final thesis may specify the literature which students need to study for the purpose of defence. However, this requirement must take account of availability of respective sources or time period necessary for their obtaining. Students' assessment will be decided upon by the state examination board. Final assessment consists of the following elements:

Final assessment:

Assessment in the supervisor's report - 20 %

Assessment in the opponent's report - 40 %

Discussion within defence - 40%

Presentation of results of the final thesis, answering the questions of the opponent(s) and the questions of the members of the examination board.

Recommended literature:

The chairperson of state examination board, opponent and supervisor of final thesis may specify the literature which students need to study for the purpose of defence. However, this requirement must take account of availability of respective sources or time period necessary for their obtaining.

during the seminars. Essays will be handwritten in class. They must conform to the guidelines of academic writing and must NOT be plagiarised. No part of the paper may be produced by AI text generators. Using material produced by AI text generators will be considered plagiarism. Plagiarised papers will be awarded 0 points. Students will NOT be given the option of rewriting plagiarised papers.

4. TEST (40 points): Students will write one written test covering ALL material studied during the course. There are NO RETAKES. If you are unable to attend the test for valid reasons (e.g. medical emergency), contact the teacher as soon as possible, or in advance if possible.

To pass the course, the SUM of all points (active participation + essays + test) must be no less than 65 points.

Learning outcomes:

This course is designed to help students explore British popular fiction, i.e. the texts that are not studied in traditional literature history classes, as they stand outside the canon. It is the aim of this course to teach students to critically examine and analyse the significance and cultural impact of texts they would normally consider leisure reading. Also, the course poses questions such as: What is the difference between high and low culture? What is the place of popular fiction within literature? Can popular fiction be analysed in the same manner as literature? What is genre and how is it significant for popular fiction?

Brief outline of the course:

COURSE STRUCTURE:

The course consists of an introduction and 4 two-week blocks dedicated to different genres of popular fiction. Each block is divided into two parts. During the first week, students read theoretical texts, study the characteristics and history of the respective genre and acquire a critical outlook on the genre. During the second week, students read specific works that are good examples of the genre and attempt to apply the acquired theoretical concepts in class discussions, as well as in written assignments.

WEEK 1: Introduction. Basic information: assessment, readings, etc. A note on plagiarism and AI. WEEK 2: Popular fiction: what is it and why should I care? Can/should we analyse popular fiction in academia? What is genre? What are cultural studies?

WEEK 3: Gothic Novel 1 / Text: Clive Bloom "Now Welcome the Night: The Origins of Gothic Culture"

WEEK 4: Gothic Novel 2 / Texts: Ann Radcliff "The Mysteries of Udolpho" (excerpt); Jane Austen Northanger Abbey (excerpt) - IN-CLASS ESSAY 1

WEEK 5: Detective Fiction 1 / Text: John G. Cawelti "The Formula of the Classical Detective Story"

WEEK 6: Detective Fiction 2 / Texts: Sir Arthur Conan Doyle "The Final Problem"; Agatha Christie "The Market Basing Mystery" - IN-CLASS ESSAY 2

WEEK 7: Science Fiction 1 / Text: Adam Charles Roberts "Defining Science Fiction"

WEEK 8: Science Fiction 2 / Text: Douglas Adams "The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy", Book 1 (entire novel) - IN-CLASS ESSAY 3

WEEK 9: Chick Lit 1 / Text: Cris Mazza "Who's Laughing Now? A Short History of Chick Lit and the Perversion of a Genre"

WEEK 10: TUTORIALS –

YEARS 1 and 2: READING WEEK (This is your time to catch up on your compulsory reading)
YEAR 3: TEST

WEEK 11: Chick Lit 2 / Text: Helen Fielding "Bridget Jones's Diary" (whole novel) - IN-CLASS ESSAY 4

WEEK 12: THURSDAY GROUP (YEAR 1 and 2): TEST (test date: April 30) / WEDNESDAY GROUP: NO CLASS – SCHEDULE CHANGE

WEEK 13: WEDNESDAY GROUP (YEAR 1 and 2): TEST (test date: May 7) / THURSDAY GROUP: NO CLASS – PUBLIC HOLIDAY

WEEK 14: TUTORIALS

TEST DATES ARE PROVISIONAL AND MIGHT BE CHANGED BY THE TEACHER DURING THE SEMESTER IF THERE ARE VALID REASONS FOR SUCH A CHANGE. If test dates change, the teacher will inform students in advance.

Assessment and evaluation:

Attendance - students are expected to attend each class according to the schedule. Should the student miss three or more classes, he/she will not receive credits for the course no matter what his/her overall results are on the test(s). The student must be on time for class or he/she will be marked as absent

2.

Active participation, completed homework assignments - students are required to come prepared and do their best with respect to active participation in seminar sessions. Students are expected to bring their own copies of the required materials and complete the assigned tasks and exercises. Should you fail to bring your own copy or a completed home assignment for a particular seminar, you will be marked as absent.

3.

CONTINUOUS ASSESSMENT :

HISTORY part: The students will write 1 test in week 13. (14.)

SOCIAL INSTITUTIONS part : Students will write two quizzes (each 25 points maximum) covering topics discussed at seminars - Quiz 1 in week 6 and Quiz 2 in week 9. Students must be present at seminars in weeks 6 & 9 and 13 as there are no re-takes.

FINAL ASSESSMENT: A student's final score within the course will be calculated as a total sum of both parts (History and Social Institutions part). 100% = History 50% (test 1) + Social Institutions 50% (quiz 1 + quiz 2) The student will receive final credits when getting minimum pass mark as set from both parts together. The following grading scale will be used:

A 100-93% B 92-86 % C 85-78 % D 77-72 % E 71-65 % FX 64 and less.

Learning outcomes:

The aim of this course is to enable students achieve an understanding of the key theoretical terminology related to the themes and to acquire theoretical information on the given issues as well as an insight into the recent development of the situation in the set areas of British society and history.

The course also introduces the economic, social and political history of Britain from the earliest period. The history helps us understand and grapple with complex questions and dilemmas by examining how the past has shaped (and continues to shape) global, national, and local relationships between societies and people. The student will be able to analyse past events, and attempt to objectively determine the patterns of cause and effect. Moreover, the student will be able to implement basic concepts of history.

US ARTS AND CULTURE:

To complete the course, students need to complete both parts of the continuous assessment. Continuous assessment requires students' active participation in each lesson (participation in discussions based on reading required texts). Each student also needs to present a topic chosen by the lecturer at the beginning of the course and deliver a handout. If someone fails to present their topic, they will not receive credits for this part (30%). To complete the course, students are also required to successfully pass the test at the end of the course (70%). Attendance:

Students are expected to attend each class according to the schedule, which applies to online classes too. No transfers among the groups are allowed. Should students miss three or more classes, they will not receive credits for the course no matter what their overall results are.

FINAL ASSESSMENT:

To qualify for the final exam all students must receive minimum 65% of continuous assessment from each of the two parts separately.

There will be a final written exam taken during the examination period consisting of two tests, one covering UK Art and Culture part (50 % of the final grade) and the other one covering American Art and Culture part (50 % of the final grade). In order to be awarded final credits, each student must receive 65% minimum from the two tests combined.

Every student is entitled to 2 retakes if necessary, which means 3 chances for passing the exam. The final grade for the course will be based on the following grading scale.

A 93-100%

B 86-92%

C 78-85%

D 72-77%

E 65-71%

FX 64 and less.

Should you have any questions on the above explained forms of assessment, address them to your individual lecturer at the beginning of the semester (Dr Martausova or Dr Sabovikova).

Learning outcomes:

Aims and objectives:

The aim of this course is to develop and improve essential analytical skills in dealing with American culture and art, and to acquire knowledge of historical development of the Fine Arts in USA. The course is designed to provide students with information about the most vital eras important in the overall development of a distinctive American tradition in Arts, and to enhance students' very own interpretation of individual works of art. The course embraces eras and periods starting from Colonial America until late 20th century, focusing on both - mainstream and ethnic traditions, and all means of artistic production (visual art as well as audiovisual art of the 20th century). The main objective of the course is to present information about the development of art in coherence with wider social, cultural but also political contexts that substantially contribute to the expression of American art.

UK ART AND CULTURE

Course Description:

The course builds upon the students' prior knowledge of British history and literature and tries not only to revise this knowledge but also to put it into a broader cultural context. Proceeding chronologically from the period of English Renaissance, we shall focus on how the political and social situation of the time has been reflected in (not only) visual art and in cultural production of the time, taking British literature as a starting point. The students shall therefore be asked to revise selected chapters of British history and literature for each seminar. This revision will be followed by reading materials that deal specifically with mostly visual art and culture of the time. This theoretical knowledge will then be applied to specific examples art and culture that may serve as a source of information not only about the artistic values of the society of the time but also about its norms, values and institutions.

Learning Outcomes:

By the end of this course, student will be able to:

• Identify some of the most significant works of British art

• Understand the connections between historical background and cultural development of the respective periods

• Identify main ideas and arguments in the texts assigned for home preparation

• Apply this theoretical knowledge to the analysis of works of art and culture and make their own analysis of a selected work of art based on the theories studied throughout the semester

• Students would also improve the transferable skills of summarising texts they have read, understanding knowledge gained in the classroom, understanding and applying it in the form of a presentation

UK ART AND CULTURE

WEEK 1: Course Introduction

Content: defining culture and art, the concept of national culture, British culture and stereotypes, cultural literacy

We will discuss our understanding of the terms 'art' and 'culture' and try to come up with our own definitions. Then we will think about the term 'national' culture and British culture in particular and see how we each understand these notions and what concepts and stereotypes we associate with being British. Our next task will be to try to clarify the term 'art' and how we understand it in relation to culture. Throughout this course, we will also be working on improving certain skills that may be useful in broader context. This lesson will focus on summarising texts and presenting these summaries to others, which will later be applied in individual presentations. Reading (in class):

• Arnold, D.: Art History. A Very Short Introduction. Oxford: OUP, 2004. Chapter 1 WEEK 2: English Renaissance

Content: Renaissance, Reformation, portrait painting, Tudors and the Golden Age

In this class, we will compare the understanding of arts and the role of artists in ancient, medieval and Renaissance society and discuss how and why Renaissance came to be a defining turning point for European culture and how our awareness of this period has been shaped by its presentation in the media.

Revision: Tudor England (history), Elizabethan and Tudor Literature (literature) Reading:

• http://www.arthistory.sbc.edu/artartists/ancmed.html

http://www.arthistory.sbc.edu/artartists/renaissance.html

Presentation(s): compare the position of art and artist in ancient, medieval and Renaissance society WEEK 3: Commonwealth and Restoration

Content: Charles I and Baroque portrait, art and culture of the Commonwealth, Restoration This class will focus on the reflection of the changing social and political situation in the period art, particularly the portrait painting. We will discuss how portraits of monarchs and other influential figures reflected their ambitions and served as a message for the others. Applying our theoretical knowledge to analysing specific works of art, we will move on to discuss the form of the final presentation and its evaluation criteria.

Revision: Stuarts (history), 17th century and Restoration literature (literature) Reading:

• Sharpe, K. 'Portrait of an Age'. In History Today, March 2009, pp. 6-7.

• Skeaping, L. 'All singing, all dancing'. In History Today, February 2010, pp. 18-24. WEEK 4: Neo-Classicism, English School of Art

Content: The Age of Reason, Enlightenment, the rise of middle classes, satire, journalism

Neo-Classical art and culture in general marked a shift in topics, styles and target audience for writers and visual artists alike. Using our knowledge of neo-classical literature as a starting point, we will analyse several paintings of the so called English School to see how similar principles were applied in visual arts. Since this period also marked the birth of journalism and regular newspapers, we will compare some of those with our current notions of what a newspaper is. Revision: Neoclassical prose and poetry (literature)

Reading:

• http://www.gutenberg.org/files/2176/2176-h/2176-h.htm - (Introduction and the first of the discourses)

• http://www.gutenberg.org/files/22500/22500-h/22500-h.htm#Page_113

Presentation(s): compare Hogarth's and Reynolds' attitudes to art (themes and genres they preferred) and the education and training of young artists

WEEK 5: Georgian Era

Content: architecture, domestic life, Regency

This period in British art history will give us an opportunity to pay more attention to architecture. We will look back on how architectural styles evolved but will also discuss the less visible aspects of this topic, including the notion of domesticity and the organisation of domestic life.

Revision: Jane Austen (literature), Hanoverians (history)

Reading:

• Vickery, A. 'Open House Georgian Style'. In History Today, November 2009, pp. 42-44.

• Bryson, B. At Home. A Short History of Private Life. London: Transworld Publishers, 2010. Chapter 5

WEEK 6: Romanticism, Landscape

Content: changing perception of nature, topography, history painting

Our discussion of Romantic painting will focus on the development of this genre and primarily on comparing 2 most significant English landscape painters, trying to identify their different aims and understanding of their work. We will also cover the genre of history painting, its connection to landscape in the works of Turner and discuss the reasons for its prominent status in this particular period in history.

Revision: the Age of Romanticism (literature)

Reading:

• Wilton, A.: Five Centuries of British Painting. From Holbein to Hodgkin. London: Thames and Hudson, 2002. Chapter 5

Presentation(s): compare Constable and Turner's different approaches to the genre of landscape paining

WEEK 7: Victorian Britain

Content: Empire, industrialisation, old vs. new, Arts and Crafts movement

We will start this lesson by discussing last week's reading and then move on to other aspects of Victorian Britain. We will discuss its conservatism as opposed to major innovations in technology, science and thinking, major advances and modernisation as opposed to pseudo-styles and attempts at reviving ancient arts and crafts.

Revision: Industrial Revolution, Victorian Britain (history), Reading:

• Wilton, A.: Five Centuries of British Painting. From Holbein to Hodgkin. London: Thames and Hudson, 2002. Chapter 6 – Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood

• Bryson, B. At Home. A Short History of Private Life. London: Transworld Publishers, 2010. Chapter 1

Presentation(s): old vs. new in Victorian Britain in terms of visual art, architecture and way of thinking

WEEK 8: Contemporary Art and Culture

Content: Young British Artists, conceptual art, new media

During this class, we will return to our initial definitions of what art means and will compare these with the theories discussed in the reading that try to respond to current styles and trends. Specific examples will include paintings, installations and other forms of art by contemporary British artists. Again, we will see how the understanding of art, artist and their role has been evolving. Reading:

• Pooke, G. and Whitman, G. 2008. Teach Yourself Art History. Chapter 4

The study of the animal body structure of animals is a very old scientific discipline that has accumulated a vast amount of detailed knowledge. Comparing them is not only a way to put the knowledge into a comprehensive system, but mainly a way to find general anatomical rules that are tied to one of the animal's phylogenetic linneage or have general validity and reveal the degree of phylogenetic relationship of animals or the degree of adaptation to the environment and a way of life. A brief summary of the phylogeny of the animal body building plan and organ systems using the knowledge of classical and modern comparative morphological approach, supported by knowledge of embryology and molecular data for interpretation of the phenotype are the content of this course.

The method of teaching the subject will be oriented to the student. Lecturers will be interested in students' needs, expectations and opinions so as to encourage them to think critically by expressing respect and feedback on their opinions and needs.

The content of the curriculum will be based on primary and high-quality sources that will reflect the topicality of the topics so as to ensure the connection of the curriculum with other subjects and also the connection of the curriculum with practice. Students will be expected to take an active approach in lectures and seminars with an emphasis on their independence and responsibility.

The student is able to demonstrate an understanding of an individual's behavior in various conflict situations. The student is able to describe, explain and evaluate their own internal resources, competencies as well as limitations and weaknesses that are directly related to conflict management. The student is able to apply theoretical knowledge and principles of conflict resolution to everyday situations.

After completing the course, students will be able to: a) express and summarize basic knowledge related to conflict management; b) understand the basic rules and dynamics of the origin, course and termination of the conflict; c) apply knowledge in practice, e.g. in the school environment; d) apply key competencies that increase the possibilities of their application in all areas of practice with a special focus on the work of a teacher. They will acquire knowledge from the theory of conflict management as well as capabilities and competences for solving them, e.g. in the context of school teams.

syllabus of the course and the title of the topic for the week. The final document must be saved in Printable Document Format (PDF). Ignoring any of these criteria will automatically lead to the refusal of the submitted report.

Content requirements for the assignment:

Students must present the content of the reading assignment synthesized in a clear and structured way: highlighting key information and data as well as presenting logical connections between them. The submitted report must represent the student's thorough understanding of the content and the problem area discussed in the reading assignment.

WARNING: Reports must be original work of the author! Any violation of copyright or breach of anti-plagiarism rules and regulations of the university will inevitably lead to disciplinary procedures! Repeated and systematic plagiarism will lead to the loss of credits assigned for completion the course!

Deadline and the format of the report:

Students must mail their home assignments to the following email address: rozenfeld.julius2@atk.sk by Saturday 24:00 each weak. The reports must be mailed in PDF format. No other formats are accepted! No late submissions will be accepted unless separately negotiated with the supervisor of the course!

ATTENDANCE AND ACTIVE PARTICIPATION constitute 20% (maximum 20 points) of the final mark:

All students must attend all classes regardless they are organized face-to-face or online. Students must join the class sessions on time. Should anyone miss the first ten minutes of a class, will be marked as absent from the class. Points for active participation are assigned ONLY to the students who actively contribute to the learning process during the sessions with joining discussions!

Volunteer work in extracurricular activities that are organized by the Department of the British and American Studies which clearly contribute to the students' professional development such as: lectures and workshops, career week activities, organization of open-door days, language competitions, conferences, Olympiads, and other similar activities are fully supported! Should these activities be organized during the regular session times, volunteers will be acknowledged as if they had participated in the regular class session.

ABSENCE DUE TO ILLNESS

A student absent from a class must file a valid doctor's certificate by emailing it in a PDF format to the lecturer as soon as possible. Due reports for the missed class must be submitted according to the syllabus of the course and no later than the following class attended by the student.

In an emergency, if the student is unable to contact the lecturer and mail the valid doctor's certificate or is being treated elsewhere, the lecturer must be informed by sending an email to the following email address: julius.rozenfeld@upjs.sk as soon as possible. In both cases, the student must also file a letter from a physician certifying the date and nature of the illness.

ABSENCE FOR OTHER REASONS

Students who must be absent for reasons other than illness, such as a death in the family or a reason of similar gravity, must contact the lecturer as soon as possible and submit relevant documents that certify the seriousness of the case.

There may be other activities which can validate missing a class or several classes, for example participation in high-quality international competitions, scientific research, conferences, or other relevant activities, which clearly contribute to the professional development of the student but final decision about the validity of the presented excuse fully falls in the lecturer's competency. Regular full-time or part-time employment is not an acceptable excuse for a missed class.

COVID-19 regulations:

Changing pandemic situation requires continuous adaptation. Online sessions organized via Microsoft Teams are the preferred alternative to in-person sessions if necessary. Attendance will be duly followed on online meetings too. Tests – if required for the completion of course – are also planned flexibly. Normally, the first credit test takes place during the 6th week of the term with a second credit test on the 12th week, but changes may apply. If necessary, these test dates can be changed according to the pandemic situation or replaced by online tests the form and content of which are comparable with a normal paper-based test. Students are required to follow the department's noticeboard and inform themselves continuously about the possible changes!

Learning outcomes:

The main goal of the course is to introduce students into the basics of business communication and correspondence. The course is designed to help students develop the writing skills needed to create clear messages. Special emphasis is placed on spelling, text design, style and the formal aspects of communication. By completing the course, students will be able to actively conduct business correspondence, communicate correctly and accurately in various business situations, actively use graphs and describe statistical findings in presentations, prepare reports for business needs and create their own portfolio with a resume necessary for successful job interviews.

Brief outline of the course:

- 1. Introduction into business correspondence
- 2. Basics of email communication
- 4. Register and its role in email correspondence
- 5. Style, tone, and mood
- 6. The customer-supplier sequence
- 7. Inquires, discussing terms and asking for payment politely
- 8. How to complain and apologise for mistakes
- 9. Describing business trends and designing reports
- 10. Job application and preparation for a job interview

Attendance - students are expected to attend each class according to the schedule. Should the student miss three or more classes, he/she will not receive credits for the course no matter what his/her overall results are on the test(s). The student must be on time for class or he/she will be marked as absent. 2. Active participation, completed homework assignments - students are required to come prepared and do their best with respect to active participation in seminar sessions. Students are expected to bring their own copies of the required materials and complete the assigned tasks and exercises. Should you fail to bring your own copy or a completed home assignment for a particular seminar, you will be marked as absent. 3.Final assessment – students will take 2 tests. Final grade will be calculated as a total sum of grades from the two tests. The final grade for the course will be based on the following grading scale. A 93-100%B 86-92%C 78-85%D 72-77%E 65-71%FX 64 and less. Should you have any questions on the forms of assessment, address them to your lecturer at the beginning of the semester.

Learning outcomes:

The course expands the essentials of upper-intermediate and advanced English grammar in order to make students' language competence better.

The course introduces several various grammar topics, e.g., tenses, gerunds and infinitives, passive voice, conditionals, etc. It familiarizes students with word formation and provides practice of phrasal verbs, prepositional phrases, and idioms.

Since grammar is the foundation for communication, grammar rules help learners develop the habit of thinking logically and clearly. Students will be able to become more accurate when using a grammatically correct language.

1. Attendance: Attendance is compulsory in both online and in-person classes. Each student is allowed 2 absences at most. Important information regarding the final evaluation and the course in general will be discussed during the introductory session, therefore, failing to attend the Week 1 introductory session is ALSO COUNTED AS AN ABSENCE. Not logging into an online class is COUNTED AS AN ABSENCE. More than two missed seminars will result in failing the course, irrespective of exam or essay results. Students must be on time for class.

2. Active participation (20 points): Students are required to do their best with respect to active participation in seminar sessions. Students are expected to bring their own ANNOTATED copies of the required materials, complete the assigned tasks and exercises (available on UPJS OneDrive/ MS Teams and during the lessons) and participate in class discussions. Throughout the semester, students will be awarded points for actively participating in class discussions. Each student can earn up to 3 active participation points per seminar session.

3. Annotated bibliography (20 points): In Week 4 students will be asked to compile an annotated bibliography, overviewing the critical literature on a specific aspect of fandom or fan fiction. The bibliography will comprise of a minimum of 5 scholarly sources (books or academic journal articles) and a minimum of 600 words. The annotated bibliography will be compiled in class and must be handwritten. Bibliographies must conform to the guidelines of academic writing and must NOT be plagiarised. No part of the bibliography may be written by AI text generators. Using material produced by AI text generators will be considered plagiarism. Plagiarised papers will be awarded 0 points. Students will NOT be given the option of rewriting plagiarised papers.

4. Autoethnographic essay (60 points): Students will be asked to write an autoethnographic essay discussing their personal experience as a fan. Within the essay, students will attempt to place their personal experience into the context of the academic debate on fandom (fan studies). The essays may have a visual component. The essays will be submitted twice: a first draft (deadline: April 6, min 500 words, 15 points) and a final draft (deadline: Year 1 and 2 students: May 11, Year 3 students: April 23, 1000-1200 words, 45 points). Students will perform a peer review of each other's essays in Week 9. Details on the content and form of the essay will be provided during the course. The essays must conform to the guidelines of academic writing and must NOT be plagiarised. No part of the paper may be produced by AI text generators. Using material produced by AI text generators will be considered plagiarism. Plagiarised papers will be awarded 0 points. Students will NOT be given the option of rewriting plagiarised papers.

To pass the course, the SUM of all points (active participation + annotated bibliography + autoethnographic essay) must be no less than 65 points.

2. Active Participation (20 points): Students are required to do their best with respect to active participation in seminar sessions. Students are expected to bring their own ANNOTATED copies of the required materials, complete the assigned tasks and exercises (available on UPJS OneDrive/ MS Teams and during the lessons) and participate in class discussions. Throughout the semester, students will be awarded points for actively participating in class discussions. Each student can earn up to 3 active participation points per seminar session.

3. Food journal (20 points): Over the course of the semester, students are required to pick any two days during which they will keep a journal of what they have eaten (in text, picture, or combined format). Subsequently, they will write an analysis of their eating habits (250-500 words) drawing on the theoretical knowledge they have acquired in the seminars. The analysis should discuss if/ how their food choices were affected by factors such as their personal identity, family background, financial situation, healthy food discourse, environmental concerns, pleasure in eating, gender stereotypes, etc. The journals will be handwritten in class in Week 8.

4. Essay (40 points): Students are required to write an essay in which they will conduct an analysis of ONE of the compulsory readings of their choice. Students are required to submit a first draft of the essay (deadline: March 30, min 400 words, 10 points) and a final draft of the essay (deadline: April 20, 800-1000 words, 30 points). Details about the form and content of the essay will be provided during the introductory meeting in Week 1 of the semester. Essays must conform to the guidelines of academic writing and must NOT be plagiarised. No part of the essay may be produced by AI text generators. Using material produced by AI text generators will be considered plagiarism. Plagiarised papers will be awarded 0 points. Students will NOT be given the option of rewriting plagiarised papers.

5. Final Discussion (20 points): During the final seminar session in Week 11, students will participate in a group discussion, in which they will talk about their analytical food journals, as well as the results of their analyses of compulsory readings (i.e. their seminar papers). Participation in the final discussion is compulsory.

To pass the course, the SUM of all points (active participation + food journal + essay + discussion) must be no less than 65 points.

Learning outcomes:

Food is one of the few things we cannot live without. No wonder then that people across continents and throughout history have always talked and written about it. Food is by no means mere fuel that gives our body energy to conduct other, more important tasks. On the contrary, it is full of symbolic and cultural meanings, it is vital to our sense of identity, closely linked to gender roles, environmental issues, or politics. In addition, food is closely tied to pleasure and even to art. In this course, students will learn about these more abstracts meanings associated with food: they will study the metaphorical, symbolic, and political roles of food. The course will focus on how food is presented in fictional, as well as non-fictional literary texts, and on how these texts reflect the social reality within which they were produced. Students will familiarize themselves with various genres of food writing, which they will critically analyse during the seminars. Moreover, students will be encouraged to situate and understand their own daily food consumption in a broader sociocultural context.

Brief outline of the course:

WEEK 1: Introduction. Food studies - the basics of the field. Is there food in literature? Is there a literature of food? And why should I care?

WEEK 2: Food as a metaphor: a discussion of some literary classics

--> Reading: Gopnik, A.: "What's the Point of Food in Fiction?" In: The New Yorker.

WEEK 3: Food and identity: in literature and beyond

--> Reading: Gardner Burt, K. "Perspectives: Food and Identity" In: Food Studies: Matter, Meaning, Movement.

WEEK 4: Recipes as art, memory, politics: the personal manuscript cookbook

--> Reading: Theophano, J. "Introduction" to Eat My Words: Reading Women's Lives Through the Cookbooks They Wrote.

--> Extra materials: If you have your own (or your mum's or your nan's) personal manuscript cookbook and are willing to share, please bring it to class this week.

WEEK 5: Food memoirs: creating meaning through the senses

--> Reading: Waxman, B. F.: "Food Memoirs: What They Are, Why They Are Popular, and Why They Belong in the Literature Classroom"

WEEK 6: Food journalism as activism in a globalized food chain

--> Reading: Pollan, M. "Introduction: An Eater's Manifesto" In: In Defense of Food: An Eater's Manifesto.

WEEK 7: The contemporary foodie novel

--> Reading: H. Kashiwa "The Kamogawa Food Detectives"

– 1ST DRAFT OF SEMINAR PAPER DUE: MARCH 30

WEEK 8: First draft peer review, food journals

--> Extra materials: Please bring your printed out seminar paper drafts to class this week.

WEEK 9: Food writing in the digital age: the paradoxes of the Instagram meal

--> Reading: Walsh, M. J. "Clean eating and Instagram: purity, defilement, and the idealization of food" In: Food, Culture & Society.

WEEK 10: TUTORIALS – NO CLASS – FINAL DRAFT OF ESSAY DUE: APRIL 20

WEEK 11: Group discussion and final feast

--> Extra materials: For our final session, feel free to bring any food and (non-alcoholic) drink you would like to share with your classmates. Discussions conducted around a table full of food are always the most fruitful (pun intended!).

Learning outcomes:

This course introduces to students a selection of texts from modern and contemporary Slovak literature with the aim of analysing the role of gender as a social category in these texts. The course is intended as a thematic and chronological continuation of the Slovak literature curriculum covered in standard high school courses. For this reason, the course focuses on 20th and 21st century literature and on texts by lesser known or non-canonical authors, with an emphasis on works by female authors. The course is designed to expand the students' theoretical knowledge in the field of literary studies and in the history of Slovak literature, but also to develop various practical skills: reading comprehension, textual analysis, or critical thinking skills.

Brief outline of the course:

Compulsory readings for each seminar will be available in advance via MS Teams. Students are required to read the relevant texts before each seminar and a copy of the reading materials with them to class.

SEMINAR TOPICS:

Gender as an analytical category; Women in society, women in literature; Herstory in Slovak; Feminism, realism and hyperrealism; Cookbooks as literature; Contemporary poetry I: muses and lyrical subjects; Contemporary poetry II.: rap and slam; Gender and genre: noir and romance; (Mommy)blogging and digital literature; Men, women, other: queer literature in Slovakia

Recommended literature:

COMPULSORY READING:

Students must read the seminar readings available in MS Teams before each seminar. In addition, each student must choose and read ONE of a selection of compulsory books.

will be asked to determine and define key concepts related to a chosen topic, relate these concepts to individual information sources, and synthesize the overall information. Students will be encouraged to communicate, organize, and synthesize information from various sources in order to fully support their arguments with clarity and depth. Students whose performance is deemed unsuccessful, indicated by fragmented or inappropriate communication of information from sources, will not complete the task and will not receive credits.

The exam will take place during the designated exam period (Jan-Feb). Two retakes are allowed, with the most recent score always counting. The instructor will post the exam dates on the AIS platform at the beginning of December, and students will need to sign up for the exam well in advance through AIS. Any registration changes must be made at least 24 hours before the exam. Depending on the pandemic situation, the oral exam will be conducted either in contact classes or online. Students who fail to achieve the required minimum on the Mid-term and End-of-term tests have failed the course and will not proceed to the final exam. Attendance:

Students are expected to attend each class according to the schedule, including in the online environment. Transfers among groups are not allowed. If a student misses three or more classes, they will not receive credits for the course, regardless of their overall results.

The course is currently conducted in person; however, the format of individual classes may be subject to changes due to possible precautions resulting from the Covid-19 pandemic. If the pandemic situation changes, the course will continue in an online format via MS Teams for lectures and individual classes.

Exam Assessment Criteria:

Students are advised to consider the following evaluation criteria to assess their preparation for the Final exam. Students will be evaluated based on their ability to communicate and organize information from primary and secondary sources according to the following requirements:

A-B:

The student can effectively communicate and synthesize information from primary sources, explaining their relevance within the historical context with clarity and depth C-D:

The student can communicate and organize information from the source but has not yet fully synthesized the acquired information with the historical context.

E:

The student communicates information from sources, but it is fragmented or used inappropriately (e.g., misquoted, taken out of context, or incorrectly paraphrased). Fx:

The student cannot effectively communicate information from sources or communicates incorrect information.

The grading scale for this compulsory course for BASb, BASb (in comb.), AJEIEb, AJFJEIEb, and AJNJEIEb is:

A 93-100% B 86-92% C 78-85% D 72-77% E 65-71%

Learning outcomes:

The course serves as an introductory course for undergraduate students in American Studies, providing an overview of key themes that have shaped American culture since its discovery. We will delve into the perspectives of influential figures in American history, exploring how they conceptualize their nation through various mediums such as fiction, sermons, poetry, and film. These diverse writers and thinkers, representing different racial, ethnic, class, and gender backgrounds, will share narratives about pivotal moments in American history, encompassing both triumphs and shortcomings, as well as the connections between the past, present, and future.

The primary focus will be on reading a wide range of primary sources, including short pieces and selected excerpts from longer works, to develop a comprehensive understanding of American culture. Analyzing these primary sources and situating them within their historical context is crucial for gaining insights into individual perspectives. This approach helps students acquire information literacy skills and encourages them to evaluate the significance of selected chapters in relation to the topic, which are essential prerequisites for developing critical thinking skills.

The analysis of primary sources entails examining key arguments and assessing their relevance in comparison to historical contexts and the overviews provided by historians and thinkers in secondary sources. This analysis enables students to critically and comprehensively identify and describe pertinent information necessary for a thorough understanding of individual topics. Additionally, it encourages students to question arguments, counter-arguments, and the viewpoints of individual authors, commentators, and interpreters. The contributions of these individuals to the understanding of various topics are historically considered crucial.

The course overview structures individual topics in a way that motivates students not only to explore the themes within their historical relevance but also to observe, assess, and analyze their implications for contemporary developments in American society. As a result, students should be able to consider the specific complexities of the discussed issues and, in addition to demonstrating their understanding, acknowledge the limitations of individual perspectives (historical, cultural, and political). They should also be able to synthesize historical evidence with the latest perspectives on various issues.

Each topic further encourages students to construct their own arguments based on informed evaluations of provided evidence, including opposing views. It also prompts them to define consequences and implications in order to draw meaningful conclusions.

- Participation in a research project (50%) will improve the quality of the student's practical knowledge of linguistic research. This way, the students will have priceless first-hand knowledge about carrying out linguistic research. The research project consists of 4 tests. Students are not graded for these tests, the completion of this part of the continuous assessment is based purely on participation. Failing to participate in even one test results in 0 participation in a research project score (which is 50% of the continuous assessment).

The minimum to pass is 65%. It is a condition for the final exam. Since it is a continuous assessment, there is no retake. In the case the students fail to achieve the required percentage in continuous assessment they will not be allowed to take part in the final exam test and they fail the course.

For the final evaluation, students are supposed to participate in an exam. The form of the exam (contact vs. online mediated by MS Teams) will be announced at the end of the semester.

Final evaluation grades: A 93 - 100; B 86 - 92; C 78 - 85; D 72 - 77; E 65 - 71; FX 64 and less. In the case of the online form of any of the tests, students are expected to observe the following regulations:

Students are free to choose the preferred mobile equipment for this purpose (mobile phones, tablets, laptops, etc.) but they are responsible for the readiness of the device to be used (technicalities, charged device, etc.). The tutor of the course will make use of any available option to prevent students from cheating during the test. Any identified cheating attempt will result in 0 test score and the student will be reported to the management of the Department and the Faculty.

Students can take the final exam only of they pass the continuous assessment. The form of the final exam is oral.

Learning outcomes:

Aims and objectives: Mastering fundamental linguistic terminology, basic ideas, conceptions and approaches (Geneva school, Prague School of Linguistics, American descriptivism, Transformational and Generative Grammar), basic methods (synchronic, diachronic), development of language, language types, language levels.

Students are able to implenet the gained knowledge into discussion on language. They are able to participate in a discussion on approaches to a linguistic sign and read linguistic texts with comprehension.

If these activities are organized at a time when the student has regular classes according to the actual schedule, volunteers will be awarded points for active participation in the class, regardless of their absence.

ABSENCE due to illness

A student absent from class must submit a valid doctor's certificate as soon as possible via e-mail sent to the teacher in PDF format. Homework for missed classes must be submitted no later than the beginning of the forthcoming class the student can attend according to the actual schedule.

In case of emergency, if the student is unable to contact the teacher and send him/her a valid doctor's certificate or is hospitalized, the teacher must be informed by sending an e-mail to the following e-mail address: julius.rozenfeld@upjs.sk as soon as circumstances allow so.

ABSENCE FOR OTHER REASONS

Students who are absent for reasons other than illness, such as serious family reasons or participation in prestigious domestic or international competitions, scientific research, conferences or other similar activities that clearly contribute to the student's professional development, must inform the teacher about these activities in a timely manner.

Regular full-time or part-time employment is not an acceptable reason for missing a class.

Learning outcomes:

The course is focused on the development of language skills and other competencies that are necessary for successful completion of the Test of English as a Foreign Language known by the acronym TOEFL and obtaining the international language certificate TOEFL iBT (i.e. Interret-Based Test). Students develop the ability to listen with comprehension, speaking, reading and writing through practical exercises and understand the principles of using correct grammar through a variety of topics that may appear in this test. The course also provides a detailed explanation of the processes and recommendations for passing the TOEFL iBT test. By completing the course, students will be able to successfully complete the TOEFL iBT, or equivalent language test.

Please DO NOT USE any other email address for submitting your speeches! Each video recording must be marked according to the following scheme: WeekX_Surname_Title.

The videos must be in HD quality, 720p, in 16:9 ratio, landscape oriented. Be careful to set up your microphone correctly! The sound recording must be DVD quality, 48kHz. No AI, simulation, or digital avatars are allowed! The videos must be the ORIGINAL work of the student.

Content requirements for the assignment:

Students must present their speeches without reading a script! No PowerPoint or any other presentation tool is required. The content of the speech must reflect the student's readings and research in the actual topic required for the given week. The content of the speech must be a synthesis of various sources (scientific journal articles, documentary films, etc.) in a clear and structured way: highlighting key information and data as well as presenting logical connections between the used data and resources. The submitted speech must represent the student's thorough understanding of the content and the problem area discussed in the reading assignment.

ATTENDANCE constitutes 10% of the final mark.

Students are required to attend each class during the term. Students are assigned 1 point for each class they attend in person.

ACTIVE PARTICIPATION DURING THE LESSONS constitutes 30% of the final mark.

Students will be called out to participate in discussions, argue, present opinions, or comment on other students' opinions during the lessons within the framework of the range of topics listed in this document. For active participation, students can collect maximum 3 points per lesson. The points will be assigned at the end of each lesson if the student speaks up at least 3 times during the lesson. ABSENCE:

Students who must be absent for illness or reasons other than illness, such as a death in the family or a reason of similar gravity, must contact the lecturer as soon as possible and submit relevant documents that certify the seriousness of the case. The documentation should be scanned as a PDF file and sent via email to the regular institutional email of the teacher: julius.rozenfeld@upjs.sk.

There may be other activities which can validate missing a class or several classes, for example participation in high-quality international competitions, scientific research, conferences, or other relevant activities, which clearly contribute to the professional development of the student but final decision about the validity of the presented excuse fully falls in the lecturer's competency. Students must inform the lecturer about these activities too in a timely manner. Regular full-time or part-time employment is not an acceptable excuse for a missed class.

Pandemic regulations:

Changing pandemic situation requires continuous adaptation. Online sessions organized via Microsoft Teams are the preferred alternative to in-person sessions if necessary. Attendance will be duly followed on online meetings too. Students are required to follow the department's noticeboard and inform themselves continuously about the possible changes!

Learning outcomes:

This course focuses on the development of advanced speaking skills. The primary goal of the course is to prepare students for the successful defense of their bachelor's and master's theses. The course is designed to help students practice prepared formal speeches; spontaneously converse in a group and use academic English; learn the principles of intercultural communication; improve academic grammar together with pronunciation in spoken language; and develop vocabulary corresponding to the needs of academic debates. The course is aimed at developing and improving language skills at a higher level and increasing the language skills of students with a special focus on the use of academic language. The course introduces various academic topics, acquaints students with academic vocabulary and provides systematic practice of phrases and collocations. By completing the course, students will be able to actively lead a professional debate in English, give a speech to an academic audience and professionally and factually argue in a scientific and academic context.

Aims and objectives:

The main aim of this course is to develop and improve English vocabulary in the classroom with intermediate to upper-intermediate/advanced level students, and to increase their language competences with a special focus on some aspects of vocabulary learning. The course aims to help to learn new words and word combinations, functioning as meaningful units with a fixed or semifixed form (collocations, phrasal verbs, idioms), and to show that the words can play different roles in a text, and can express a variety of meanings. Contextually based learning is of great importance, and various sources are suggested.

Brief outline of the course:

The course introduces various interesting aspects of English vocabulary learning. It revises useful points of English vocabulary (word classes/families, multi-word units, homonyms, synonyms and antonyms, etc.), familiarizes students with the ways new words are coined, learned, and presented. They are expected to bring their own copies rials and complete the assigned tasks and exercises. Should they fail to bring completed home assignment for a particular seminar, they will be marked as ASSESSMENT – Language skills (LS) as a subject comprises 3 parts (1- g, 2- listening and vocabulary, 3- grammar). Students will take 2 credit tests, itorial weeks. The date of the test may change. All three parts of the subject he tests and they will be tested on the same day; however, each part will be y. At the end of the semester , within each part of LS separately, your partial ited based on the results of partial credit tests. evaluation: ive final credits when getting minimum mark set for their study group for each Language skills (LS). In such case the final credits will be calculated as an itage results from all LS parts. If students fail one part of LS, they fail the whole exercise any credits. There will not be any re-take tests for those who failed to 1.

Should you have any questions on the above explained forms of assessment, address them to your individual lecturer at the beginning of the semester.

Learning outcomes:

Aims and objectives:

To develop and improve essential language skills on advanced level(listening, speaking, reading, writing) and increase students' language competence with a special focus on how to use real language.

The course introduces various interesting topics, revises useful points of English grammar (verbs, nouns, pronouns, articles, linking words, determiners, conditionals, reported speech, etc.) and language functions, familiarises students with word formation, new vocabulary, provides systematic practice of phrasal verbs, prepositional phrases, idioms.

The course presents an overview of American cinema, focusing primarily on Hollywood production (both classic and contemporary). Covered topics include Hollywood style, film techniques, studio and star system, and the analysis of their relationship to society.

Aims and objectives:

The main objective of this course is to provide students with a set of information that will help them develop and/or improve essential analytical skills in interpreting contemporary American cinema. The course will enable students to acquire knowledge of significant developments in American cinema, from silent films to the present-day cinema, and explore their connections with broader sociohistorical context. It also attempts to increase students' appreciation of diverse styles and genres and help them recognize how some of the popular genres express social and cultural tensions. One of the main aims of this course, however, is to enable students to question their role as passive spectators and increase their ability to watch films actively and critically.

Conditions for course completion:

1. regular participation in seminars, which makes up 10% of the total evaluation for the subject. 2. written assignment (project), which makes up 40% of the total evaluation for the subject 3. final test, which makes up 50% of the total evaluation of the subject The final test or the written assignment re-takes are not possible. The final evaluation is given by the sum of points for regular participation in seminars, written assignment (project) and final test according to the following table: A 100% - 93% B 92% - 86% C 85% -78% D 77% -72% E 71% - 65% FX 64% - 0% In the case of the transition to online teaching through the MS Teams application, the content of the subject as well as its formal structure will remain unchanged.

Learning outcomes:

To develop and improve essential language skills (speaking, listening, reading) in the classroom with upper-intermediate/advanced level students and to increase their language competences with a special focus on how to listen and how to use medical English. Some aspects of medical English translation into Slovak and vice versa are presented.

Brief outline of the course:

The course introduces various interesting topics, e.g. language of medicine, origin of medical terminology, history of medicine, modern medicine, medical practitioners, human body, medical examination, common diseases, their symptoms and treatment, first aid procedures, etc. The course provides useful points of medical English pronunciation, grammar, language functions and translation, familiarises students with new vocabulary, provides systematic practice of common medical terms, medical collocations, phrasal verbs, prepositional phrases, idioms, false friends, metaphors, etc

Learning outcomes:

The student will master the basic morphological concepts, research methods and methods in the subject area. He / she will gain knowledge about the internal structure of words and their internal and external relations as well as about the connection of morphology with other linguistic disciplines.

Brief outline of the course:

1. Theory of sign (Saussure, Peirce, Horecký, Ogden & Richards) 2. Basic terminology. Units of morphology, allomorphs and allomorphy, free and bound morphemes, stem, root, diamorph, paradigm, prefix, suffix, infix, interfix (empty morph), circumfix, transfix, clitic (proclitic and enclitic), cranberry morph, suppletion; cumulative exponence, extended exponence, syncretism, zero morpheme, empty morph, replacement morphs apophony, combining forms, phonesteme 2. The scope of morphology. Criteria for the distinction between inflectional morphology and derivational morphology 3. Morphology vs. syntax 4. Morphology/phonology interface Allomorphy, assimilation and types of assimilation (labial assimilation, voicing assimilation, total assimilation), replacement by weakening or strengthening (T-lenition, palatalization and affrication, D-lenition; vocalization); vowel replacement; Deletion rules (consonant deletion – Sdrop, X-drop, N-drop, Vowel deletion (V-drop in hiatus, syllable syncopation; expansion rules (Uepenthesis and P-epenthesis). Fossilized allomorphy, rhotacism in Latin and Germanic, Metathesis, False cognates (boundary misplacement, pseudosuffixes). 5. Level-ordering morphology 6. Natural Morphology 7. Bybee's theory of morphology 8. Beard's Lexeme-Morpheme-Base Morphology 9. Morphological Typology and language universals 10. The notion of category, primary, secondary, and functional categories, classification of wordclasses - Plato, Aristotle, the Alexandrians, Jespersen, Lyons, categorial transition – prototype theory – cline – fuzzy edge. 11. Noun and its categories: case - Possessive Form; gender - natural vs. formal gender, number - pluralia and singularia tantum 12. Verb and its categories: tense Jespersen's conception of time and tense, Lyons and Spencer; tense and aspect, perfective and progressive aspect, the notion of finitude - finite and non-finite; mood - indicative, imperative, conditional, subjunctive, the relation between mood and sentence type, inductive (general truths), promissive. 13. Morphological models: Item-and-Arrangement, Item-and-Process, Word-and-Paradigm.

CONTINUOUS ASSESSMENT:

1. Attendance: Attendance is compulsory in both online and in-person classes. Each student is allowed 2 absences at most. Important information regarding the final evaluation and the course in general will be discussed during the introductory session, therefore, failing to attend the Week 1 introductory session is ALSO COUNTED AS AN ABSENCE. Not logging into an online class is COUNTED AS AN ABSENCE. More than two missed seminars will result in failing the course, irrespective of exam or essay results. Students must be on time for class.

2. Active participation (20 points): Students are required to do their best with respect to active participation in seminar sessions. Students are expected to bring their own ANNOTATED copies of the required materials, complete the assigned tasks and exercises (available on UPJS OneDrive/ MS Teams and during the lessons) and participate in class discussions. Throughout the semester, students will be awarded points for actively participating in class discussions during the seminars. Each student can earn up to 3 active participation points per seminar session.

3. Reading journal (30 points): Students are required to write two two-sided reading journal entries. The required length of each reading journal is 250-300 words. Each journal should relate to one of the texts discussed during the seminars. Detailed instruction for writing the reading journals will be provided during the introductory session. The journals must conform to the guidelines of academic writing and must NOT be plagiarised. No part of the journals may be produced by AI text generators/text editors. Using material produced by AI text generators/editors will be considered plagiarism. Plagiarised papers will be awarded 0 points. Students will NOT be given the option of rewriting plagiarised papers.

4. Credit Test (50 points): Students will sit a written credit test in WEEK 13 There are NO RETAKES. If you are unable to attend the credit test for valid reasons (e.g., medical emergency), contact the teacher as soon as possible, or in advance if possible.

To pass the course, the SUM of all points (active participation + reading journals + credit test) must be no less than 65 points.

Learning outcomes:

This course aims at presenting the students with a new point of view on a topic as familiar as children's literature, and consequently attempts to encourage them to adopt a critical attitude towards all, even well-known and seemingly straightforward, areas of life. The course consists in analysing specific fairy tales and other texts falling under the category of "children's literature" in order to uncover the mechanisms which these texts employ to socialise children, reflect and/or influence family dynamics, construct identities, sustain traditional gender roles, or, on the contrary, deconstruct them.

Brief outline of the course:

SEMINARS OUTLINE:

WEEK 1: Introduction. Basic information: assessment, readings, etc. How to write a two-sided reading journal. Adults reading literature for children.

WEEK 2: What is "children's literature?" Basic notions, historical overview, and the problem of "the canon of children's literature."

--> Readings: Lesnik-Oberstein, K. "What is children's literature? What is childhood?"; Watkins, T. "The Setting of Children's Literature: History and Culture"

WEEK 3: "The Impossibility of Innocence:" ideology in children's literature.

--> Readings: "ideology"; "innocence"; Winnie-the-Pooh (A. A. Milne)

WEEK 4: Critical approaches to children's literature: psychoanalysis, reader response theory, feminism.

--> Readings: "aesthetics"; "gender"; "theory"; Snow White; The Bloody Chamber (Angela Carter) WEEK 5: Fairy tales and gender roles: constructing an ideal femininity.

--> Readings: "body"; "girlhood"; "tomboy"; Sleeping Beauty; The Famous Five (Enid Blyton) WEEK 6: Fairy tales and gender roles: boyhood and masculinity?

--> Readings: "boyhood"; "identity"; Tarzan (Edgar Rice Burroughs); Harry Potter (J. K. Rowling); Captain Underpants (Dav Pilkey)

WEEK 7: TUTORIALS - READING JOURNAL 1 DUE: OCTOBER 31

WEEK 8: Socialisation, family, education, and the purpose of children's literature.

--> Readings: "childhood"; "education"; Mrs. Piggle-Wiggle (Betty MacDonald), The Grimm brothers

WEEK 9: READING WEEK (Time to get a head start on the readings for the remainder of the semester)

WEEK 10: Children's literature and national identity.

--> Readings: "empire"; "postcolonial"; "race"; Little Henry and His Bearer (Mary Martha Sherwood); The Jungle Book (Rudyard Kipling)

WEEK 11: Subversive fairy tales. Stereotypical versus non-conformist identities in children's literature.

--> Readings: "censorship"; "queer"; "postmodernism"; Little Women (Louisa May Alcott); Matilda (Roald Dahl)

WEEK 12: Globalisation and contemporary children's literature.

--> Readings: Bullen, E. and K. Mallan: "Local and Global: Cultural Globalization, Consumerism, and Children's Fiction" + a children's story of students' choice

WEEK 13: CREDIT TEST

WEEK 14: TUTORIALS - READING JOURNAL 2 DUE: DECEMBER 18

Conditions for course completion:

1. Lectures are optional, but highly recommended due to the presentation of otherwise difficult-toaccess information and its synthesis.

2. In addition to the exam, the student must complete a mandatory 5-hour field trip focusing on the aspects that determine the spread of plants on Earth, solve practical tasks from the topic of the subject and prepare a semester presentation on the given topic, the presentation is defended at a scientific mini-conference.

Learning outcomes:

After completing the subject, the student is oriented in various aspects of phytogeographic issues and can apply the acquired knowledge both in basic research within chorology, historical and regional phytogeography, as well as in the evaluation of world biomes. The practical application of the subject is within the study of geographically and climatically conditioned changes in vegetation, in the assessment of the reduction of biodiversity and the extinction of the natural plant communities of the Earth, and the acquired knowledge can be used in work in environmental protection.

Brief outline of the course:

- 1. History of the subject. Plants and environment. Dynamics of the earth's surface.
- 2. Abiotic and biotic factors of the plant environment.
- 3. Chorology, range, areal disjunctions, relics, endemism, vicarism.
- 4. Elements of flora older and newer approaches.
- 5. Main features of florogenesis. Paleozoic, Mesozoic, Cenozoic.
- 6. Main features of florogenesis. Cenozoic Pleistocene, Holocene.
- 7. Basics of GIS (geographic information systems) and their use in botanical research.
- 8. Postglacial development of vegetation in Slovakia.
- 9. Current changes in terrestrial vegetation and their study, plant invasions.
- 10. Geography of vegetation: from tropical rainforests to tundra I.
- 11. Geography of vegetation: from tropical rainforests to tundra II.
- 12. Geographical origin of cultivated plants.

Seminars and exercises consist of a 5-hour excursion focusing on the connections and conditionality of plant distribution and indoor exercises focusing on an overview of phytogeographical literature, atlases of plant distribution and their importance, types of mapping, types of areas, practical assessment of floristic elements and types of disjunctions, work with maps of specific taxa throughout Europe. Further: regional phytogeography of the Earth, historical overview of opinions on the phytogeographical (floristic) division of Slovakia. Plant phylogeography. Student presentations of final semester theses (phytogeographical mini-conference).

Positive Psychology as a new and dynamically developing field of psychology. They will become familiar with research in this area and various perspectives on personal well-being, happiness, and life meaning. They will acquire an overview of the main theoretical approaches in Positive Psychology and their application in the context of individuals and society, with an emphasis on their use in educational settings.

Skills: Students will develop the ability to independently and critically address current topics in Positive Psychology, such as positive emotions, interpersonal relationships, hope, optimism, gratitude, and wisdom. They will learn to apply Positive Psychology principles in designing programs aimed at promoting personal well-being and developing positive traits, which can be utilized in working with children and youth in school environments.

Competencies: After completing the course, students will be able to effectively apply the principles of Positive Psychology in educational contexts, such as fostering positive interpersonal relationships and developing optimism and gratitude in students. They will be prepared to participate in the creation and implementation of programs focused on personal development and mental well-being, contributing to the creation of a positive and supportive school environment.

The student is able to apply basic psychological knowledge to himself (self-regulation) but also in interaction with others (cooperation).

The method of teaching the subject will be oriented to the student. Speakers will be interested in the needs, expectations and opinions of students so as to encourage them to think critically by expressing respect and feedback on their opinions and needs.

The content of the curriculum will be based on primary and high-quality sources that will reflect the topicality of the topics so as to ensure the connection of the curriculum with other subjects and also the connection of the curriculum with practice. Students will be expected to take an active approach in lectures and seminars with an emphasis on their independence and responsibility.

reason. Please reserve these for when you are sick or have other serious reasons to be absent since you only have these 2 options and no more! Once you have missed more than 2 seminars, you will not be allowed to continue the course and take the exam. Should anyone come unprepared, he or she will be asked to leave and considered absent from the seminar. The same applies to failure to participate in class activities and discussion. • Presentation/leading discussion Each student will be given one topic for which they will have to prepare a short summary of the reading and questions for their colleagues to start a discussion. In addition to that, they will choose one of the research topics/questions that can be found at the end of each chapter and present their findings. This will require small research in press, television, etc. depending on each topic. Please do not hesitate to talk to your instructor about your presentation, after the seminar or during her office hours. This is not a topic for email communication. • Active participation in class Points for active participation will be awarded to actively taking part in class discussion and activities. • Panel Discussion During our last session, students will be asked to actively participate in a panel discussion covering all the topics and material assigned during the course of the semester and led by the instructor. ### Learning outcomes:

Considering the fact that most of the courses take a rather anglocentric point of view, it is necessary to introduce other issues and make the students aware of regional diversity of Britain. A single course is not sufficient to cover such a broad topic, therefore, Regions of the UK focus on Scotland as one of the regions. By covering a variety of topics similar to those already known to students primarily from the Introduction to British Studies, this course shall try to elicit a discussion about similarities and differences, encouraging students to contribute their own findings and areas of interest.

-	subject is to get knowledge on the basic reasons of recent distribution of the zoogeographic regionalization of the Earth's surface and human influence on n in the history.

Brief outline of the course:

This course will review our current understanding of the patterns of animal distribution and the processes that influence distributions of species and their attributes. Zoogeography will integrate information on the historical and current ecology, genetics, and physiology of animals and their interaction with environmental processes (continental drift, climate) in regulating geographic distributions. The course will emphasize descriptive and analytical approaches useful in hypothesis testing in zoogeography and will illustrate applied aspects of zoogeography (e.g. refuge design in conservation).
